SHATTERED COACHES and wrecked engines mark site at Southfork, Alta., where two CPR mainline trains collided early yesterday with toll of one dead and 31 injured.

Passengers aboard described scene as "hell" with steam, sparks and screams ringing in confusion. Uninjured gave first aid to less fortunate, some of whom had arms and legs torn off by rending crash as engine of one train demolished coach and sleeper of the other. Latest reports indicate fears for lives of two others critically hurt and six in serious condition in Calgary hospital, where they were taken on rescue train.

'All Hell Broke Loose' City Resident Recalls

By John A. Allus
BUP Correspondent

CALGARY, Dec. 30.—(BUP)—Orville Sefton, of 9340 Rowland Road, Edmonton, lay in a hospital bed last night and told how "all hell broke loose" when the passenger train in which he was riding was side-swiped by another.

The screams, the hissing steam, the huge blue sparks from grinding steel made it seem like hell," Sefton, who works for the Home Appliances Company of Edmonton, said.

"It was horrible. I still don't know how I got out of it alive. The car in which I was riding was the first one struck."

Sefton suffered contusion of the right ankle and cuts about the face and hands.

"I had been sleeping in the day coach," Sefton said, "and woke up just a few minutes before the accident happened at 6:30 a.m. at Southfork, Alta."

LOST SHOE, RAN

"I remember being rolled up along the side of the track. I can remember flying through space. Then I landed in waist-deep snow. I had lost one of my shoes. But I just got up and ran away from the wreck as fast as I could. I must have run about 300 yards. I don't think I realized what I was doing."

"Finally, I stopped and returned. The side of the car had been torn away."

"There were bodies strewn all along the side of the track. I can remember how one woman screamed. It was horrible."

MEDICINE HAT, Alta. Dec. 30

(CP)—A young couple today were in hospital here suffering from frozen legs and hands following a 36-hour ordeal in a stalled truck on a lonely road three-and-one-half miles southwest of their home.

John Tull, 25, and Florence Ginn, 17, may lose several toes and fingers as a result of their ordeal but hospital authorities said they hoped to save the young people's limbs.

The young couple started out from their home at Bow Island, Alta., 38 miles west of here, about midnight Tuesday to attend a turkey feed in the country. Their light delivery truck stalled in a ditch and they remained until found by a commercial traveller about noon yesterday.

Approximately 40,000 Edmonton householders will pay one cent more for every quart of milk on and after January 1 under an order of the provincial Board of Public Utilities Commissioners announced today.

Decision to raise minimum retail price of bottled milk from 17 to 18 cents a quart was made by the commissioners following hearings in November on an application from producers for increases in prices on bulk milk.

As Edmontonians consume on an average, 1,500,000 quarts a month, the one cent hike means an additional $15,000 to the monthly milk bill here.

The one cent raise becomes effective in the four controlled areas of Edmonton, Calgary, Red Deer and Medicine Hat.

Under the board order, milk producers will be paid $4.50 per hundred pounds for milk containing 35 per cent butter fat as against $4.25 per hundredweight currently paid.

Most of the milk consumed in Edmonton area contains only 3.5 per cent butter fat. Producers will be paid $4.40 per hundredweight for bulk milk with 3.5 per cent butter fat.

Board chairman G. M. Blackstock and commissioner Bruce V. Macneil said the decision to increase milk prices is based entirely on the sharp increase in prices of feed for producers. The commissioners expressed the hope the increase will be only temporary.

In this respect the report of the commissioners states: "The price increase has resulted entirely in the substantial increase in hay."

Cold to Stay Here a While

No relief is in sight for Edmontoners from the cold snap that has gripped the city for the past four days, according to the Dominion Weather Office.

Temperatures remained near 15 below during the night with strong winds keeping the mercury steady. High recorded yesterday was 14 below at 2:30 p.m., with the low of 18 below occurring two hours later at 4:30.

A half inch of snow fell in Edmonton district during the past 24 hours, beginning at 5 a.m., yesterday and continuing intermittently throughout the day.

Temperatures will remain steady near 15 below today, but when winds fall to light by this evening, the mercury is expected to drop to 20 below.

Coldest spot on the prairies overnight was at Calgary with 29 below, while Fairview recorded the low for Alberta, with 28 below.

Thompson, 37-year-old war veteran who has been out of the country for nine years, said jokingly today he plans to return home and "see how rehabilitation works." He was awarded the Military Cross for gallantry in Dieppe action during which he lost an eye.

Thomas J. Murphy, 38, Pawtucket, who has a long record of defeats by the demon in the bottle, was in court again today when he asked what had happened, replied, "It was this way. Your Honor. I went to a meeting of Alcoholics Anonymous last night and the meeting lasted so long that when I got out I couldn't get into the place where I sleep." The cadi doubted the story but guaranteed Murphy a place to sleep for the next 30 days.

This story comes from Three Rivers, Quebec: A wandering half-naked boy was found in a vacant lot on the outskirts of the nearby village of Charette last night by Henri Jean of St. Leon.

Mr. Jean said that he found the 15-year-old boy starting in a field near a railway line. He said the boy, who identified himself as Maurice Boucher, told him that his mother had died and that he was on his way to his father's home "on the road." The boy said he didn't want to be a hobo and ran away from his father and hid in the field for four days before he was discovered by Mr. Jean.

Mr. Jean said the boy is unable to read, write or tell the time from a clock.

31 In Hospital After Wreck

Jaw, back, one of the injured, died of injuries before reaching hospital.

Capt. J. W. Turner, dental officer of the cruiser Ontario at Esquimalt, B.C., who was returning from Christmas leave at his home in Niagara Falls, Ont., said the "wreck at the wreck was horrible."

"The engine of the other train dived in half the way about 100 feet and the passengers were injured in various places. Many of the fractures were multiple and the wounds were deep."

Passengers praised the assistance of Capt. Turner who was the injured before other medical aid arrived from Brooks and Bassano, 28 miles distant.

WALKED IN SNOW

Dr. William Pryor of Brooks, who had to walk the last few miles when automobiles and bus trucks became stuck in the snow-pugged track, said the accident cases were so badly injured and so seriously injured, they were too shocked to get hysterical.

We put tourniquets on limbs that would not be amputated. Many of the fractures were multiple and the wounds were deep."

The northeast locomotive ripped into the day coach, and the passenger train was derailed. The fish-weigher was in the line of the fish-weigher and was killed.

Passengers described the scene at the wreck as "horrible" with men and women lying in an arm or leg torn off, missing in the pool-black, bitter cold.

BLOOD SUPPLY SAUCED
Some 75 blooded civil centimeters of blood plasma arrived in Calgary last night from the Red Cross in Edmonton, to replenish stocks used up on victims of the head-on train collision.

The Red Cross officials say, at the same time, that their stocks of fresh blood are getting low, since great quantities can be stored.

They say that a special Red Cross blood clinic will be held in Calgary tomorrow, to replenish the fresh blood supply.

Murder Charge Laid In U.S. Mercy Death

By Stan Calderwood
MANCHESTER, N.H., Dec. 30.—(BUP)—Authorities said today Dr. Hermann N. Sander has admitted laying a woman cancer patient "as an act of mercy" by injecting 10 cubic centimeters of air into her veins.

"I did it as an act of mercy," Sander was quoted by County Solicitor William H. Craig. "There was no malice on my part."

Dr. Sander is a fine chap, an outstanding citizen in the community," Craig said, "and every one speaks highly of him."

But there's no justification in committing murder under any circumstances."

The 46-year-old prominent surgeon was arrested yesterday on a first degree murder warrant. He claims he killed Mrs. Abbie C. Borro, 50, while she lay dying of cancer. Dec. 4 in Hillsboro county hospital.

Sander was visited by his wife, Alice, a mother of three, who stayed about five minutes. She and her husband both refused to discuss the case with newsmen.

Neighbors said she was "terrified" and "nervous" and "didn't want to see him" recently and said wasn't feeling too good.

Leola Constantine, a brother of Mrs. Borro, told reporters in Bangor, Me., that his sister had been hospitalized for cancer since 1947, with cancer of the large intestine and liver. He said her condition had been considered critical.

Mrs. Borro's husband, a traveling salesman with American Oil Co., was "on the road" and unavailable for comment.

The case will go to Superior court today.

The case was brought to the attention of county authorities when a record nurse at the county hospital noted an entry in Mrs. Borro's medical history directly after Dr. Sander's signature. It said 10 cubic centimeters of air had been injected into veins.

She reported to the hospital board. The board, in turn, reported to medical referee Robert E. Breen that "something apparently was wrong."

Breen examined the records, then notified county solicitor William H. Craig and Sheriff Thomas J. O'Brien, who arrested the doctor.

Craig said the woman died within 10 minutes after the injection of air, but that her life might have been prolonged "a matter of hours."

B.C. Coming Back After Big Storms

Trains Finally Move After 48-Hour Tieup; Storm Eases

VANCOUVER, B.C., Dec. 30.—(BUP)—An entire village is under three feet of water today as storm-lashed British Columbia reeled from its second major communitarian tie-up in a month.

Weather bureau forecasters said the situation which already had left thousands of people stranded in the province's northern interior was worsening.

They said more rain, more snow, and steadily-falling temperatures, melting the snow as it fell would add to the toll.

MANY STRANDED
The northern village of Quilch, 100 miles east of Prince Rupert on a Canadian National Railway line, looked like a giant pool. Quilch, 100 residents, mostly farmers, used improved roads to herd cattle to billets as the fast-running Bulkley river spilled over its banks.

Ice floes ponded downstream doors with thrusts that could be heard close to a mile away.

Eighteen families living at a model dairy farm project near Anderson, B.C., were out off from the rest of the province by the flooding Nicomekl river.

Hope last night after grocers reported they shelled were barred by an unexpected influx of stranded train, bus and automobile travelers.

The city of Vancouver itself was not immune from the storm.

FIRST TRAINS
Six Canadian Pacific trains from the east, some as late as three days, arrived here by 10 o'clock last night and two others pulled in early today.

Both the C.P. and the government-owned Canadian National Railway companies sent their first eastbound trains in three days on their way at midnight.

Honor Alderman
WINNIPEG, Dec. 30.—(CP)—City council last night honored Alderman John Blumberg for 30 consecutive years as a member of council.

The award was presented with a resolution unanimously adopted by council, commending him for his "outstanding contribution to the well-being of the city and its citizens."

HIGHWAYS
Roads in northern Alberta are very dry and slippery. Light drizzle is reported in eastern section. Seven per cent, Banff and Wilfrid Laurier, in southern part of the province is very heavy, and not advisable for travelling. Crown Road Pass is heavy, but possible.

HELP NEEDED

Streets No Place to Live In Winter

Please—don't someone have a furnished suite for a couple with children?

This place may sound familiar to you, but even the most callous heart couldn't bear to see a family moved into the streets in 20 below weather.

But that is what may happen to an Edmonton couple with a small baby.

New Year's Day will see them moved out on the streets. Into the snow and sub-zero weather if someone doesn't come to their assistance.

The plight of this Edmonton family came to light when they answered an ad in the New Bulletin, pleading for help.

If anyone is able to assist this young couple, they may be contacted at the number listed in their ad, in classification 89, in today's Bulletin.

Varying Orbits

Th time required by comets to make a single revolution in their orbits varies from three and one-third years to one million years, according to the Encyclopedia Britannica.

On the other hand, varied but little since price ceilings were removed in 1947, the board reported.

CLARIFIED POSITION
The board stress is not granting the increase because heavy losses were suffered this year by reason of poor crops. It said:

"To add loss or even partial loss to the situation would impose a burden on consumers which no other business asks them to bear."

"In every year, in every milk herd there are dairymen who suffer loss through bad or cattle disease."

If they are halted out they must purchase grain to replace their loss. If the applicants' contention is correct these men have a double cost of production. The board is unable to see any distributive between individual loss and mass loss in fixing a producer price."

CNR Cuts Prairie Rail Service To Calgary, Regina Affected Jan. 9

The Canadian National Railways today announced a curtailment of its service in western Canada but disclosed that there would be no change in the transcontinental service.

Providence is not letting the "gang" use the church hall as a factor in the increase of juvenile crime and delinquency, she said.

"We should have the proper atmosphere and guidance and well supervised recreation," Miss Walker said.

It was pointed out by Miss Walker that the CGIT represents about 1200 girls in the province and about 750 in Edmonton.

"Few people realize that the CGIT movement is larger than the girl guides and other similar groups," Miss Walker said.

Other topics and findings made by the discussion groups were racial prejudice, movement publicity, and Tuxis week.

INDIAN PROBLEM

Problem of the Alberta Indian requires serious study and whole-hearted social services, the girls decided after a panel discussion.

Lack of trained leaders in the CGIT group was hit by provincial president Imogene Walker.

A concerted drive to add to the membership and get more qualified leaders will be conducted next year.

Plans were also made for Tuxis week which will be held from Jan. 20 to Feb. 5 in conjunction with the Tuxis Boy's Parliament members.

'BOOST CITY' COMMITTEE WILL MEET

An organization meeting of a "Put Edmonton on the Map" committee has been called by Mayor Sid Parsona for 8 p.m. January 11, in city council chambers.

All groups in the city are being asked to send a representative.

City Bridges To Be Planned

Preliminary planning for future Edmonton bridges across the Saskatchewan river will get under way shortly, with both provincial and city planning officials co-operating.

This was announced today by Mayor Sid Parsona after talks with Premier E. C. Manning.

"We may need a new bridge on both sides of the river, but we are not sure yet," he said.

Extensive planning will be required to ensure proper connections with existing highways.

Three New Sewage Plants Being Considered by City

A million dollar program to build three new sewage disposal plants in Edmonton is under consideration by city officials.

First plant in Edmonton is expected to be built on the Forest Heights district.

East Meets West At Post-Xmas Party

A post-Christmas party with a strong Oriental flavor was held at Bissell Institute last night when about 100 persons attended the fourth annual Japanese-Canadian celebration.

Proof that east and west can meet in the friendliest atmosphere possible was provided when members of Edmonton's Japanese colony feasted side by side on Occidental fare of turkey and cranberry sauce with Canadians of European descent.

A unique feature of the banquet was the mingling of Japanese and English lyrics in the singing of well-loved Christmas carols.

Several Canadians who have devoted many years to missionary work in Japan were in attendance.

Greetings were conveyed by Dr. Thomas Hart, superintendent for United Church missions in northern Alberta. Rev. Wesley Rainbird, convenor of home ministries for Alberta, and Rev. E.

Tar Sands Process Proved Successful

Great New Oil Reserves Opened Up by Method at Pilot Plant

OTTAWA, Dec. 30.—(CP)—The government's National Research Council reported yesterday its scientists have developed and doubly-proved a process that might open up great new reserves of oil in oil-bearing Alberta.

The trouble, an official said, is that there is so much oil in the tar sands in Alberta that the country's method for extracting more of it from the bituminous sands in the North will hardly be economically feasible.

But an emergency, such as a war, might easily change that situation. In a year-end review, the council reported the recovery of oil recovered "has been found to be higher" on the pilot-plant scale than in the laboratory.

A great wealth of oil is locked up in those sands in northern Alberta.

The Council is working on the key to the sand's oil. The method is to use a "flash distillation" process to break down the sand into a liquid and a solid.

The review said work also has started "on the use of the sand" in the recovery of oil from New Brunswick and Nova Scotia shale and oil shale from pyrites.

Included among the Council's other far-reaching studies is development of a regional station at Saskatoon for study of building problems of special concern to the prairies.

Eastern Paper Says New Red Leader There

MONTREAL, Dec. 30.—(CP)—The Montreal Gazette said today in a newspaper story that it had learned that an Alvin Karpis had arrived here "to assist local leaders of the Labor Progressive party in the organization of several new 'front' movements of the Communists in Eastern Canada."

The Gazette said its source of information was the Montreal police anti-subversive squad "which is investigating Karpis and other members of the so-called 'front' movements of the Communists in Montreal, Quebec and elsewhere."

The newspaper said that police informants had told it that Karpis was "one of those said by police to have taken part in an alleged Communist-inspired riot of unemployed which took place in Regina in 1935 and in which one policeman was killed and 47 policemen and 40 demonstrators injured."

Karpis' arrival here coincided with the execution of plans to form "unemployed" councils. These are a Montreal's foreign-language groups, notably among those of Slav origin whose headquarters are at various clubs on St. Lawrence street above Pine avenue, from which LPPC candidates directed their election propaganda during the last federal election," said the Gazette.

Atlantic Toll Is 2 Ships Each Month

HALIFAX, N.S., Dec. 30.—(BUP)—The turbulent Atlantic claimed 22 lives and 24 ships off Canada's east coast during 1949 and damaged 76 other vessels.

July, a generally foggy month, saw the greatest toll listed in reports gathered from the Air Force rescue organization, shipping company files and fishing records. It claimed two ships and left 12 in difficulty. All but one, a yacht, were fishing vessels.

The damaged ships, most of which were back in operation to date, ranged from a giant aircraft carrier, HMCS Magnificent, to tiny fishing dories.

Modern communications, fast rescue vessels and a vast network of search organizations in which Canada and the United States played the major part, changed the ocean of other victims.

Birth Increase Deaths Fewer

OTTAWA, Dec. 30.—(CP)—The number of births and marriages registered in October was higher while deaths were down from the same month a year ago, the bureau of statistics reported here.

Preliminary estimates showed births in the month totaled 36,302, an increase of 184 over October last year. Marriages increased to 13,881 from 12,884 and deaths dropped to 8,048 from 8,521.

Births for the first 10 months this year were 366,673, up two per cent over the same period last year while marriages were down four per cent to 130,239 and deaths one per cent to 80,871.

Aussie Desert Grass Seen As Drought Aid

OTTAWA, Dec. 30.—(CP)—In Australia, the dollar shortage is so bad that even the bulls are beginning to feel it.

Dr. John McMillan, an Australian agricultural professor, said here that two bulls which Australia had ordered from Canada had to be turned back because dollars could not be found to pay for them.

Dr. McMillan himself had to appeal to the Carnegie Foundation of New York to get the necessary dollars to finance his trip to Canada.

A delegate to the recent United Nations food and agricultural conference in London, Dr. McMillan had been allowed just enough dollars to pay for his trip to Washington and back—and so more.

Dr. McMillan believed Australian agriculturists could learn a lot from Canada. Progress in agricultural science in this country was in some ways more advanced than in Australia and equal to anything Dr. McMillan had seen in the U.S. He was interested in helping Canada fight drought.

He hoped that Australia could provide Canada with grass seeds from Australia's desert fringes which could be used for cross-breeding purposes. Out of this cross-breeding might develop a grass which would be less susceptible to the drought prevalent in some parts of the prairie, particularly in Saskatchewan and Alberta.

During the last few days of the year the signatures have been coming in a rush to headquarters in Glasgow. John McCormick, lawyer chairman of an organization known as the Scottish convention, claims he will have the signatures of 2,000,000 of Scotland's 5,000,000 inhabitants within a matter of months.

It is a demonstration for home rule which has taken London by surprise. Many political leaders are amazed there is so much feeling in Scotland on the home rule issue. The signatures are rolling in without demonstrations, oratory or elaborate propaganda campaigns.

But Remov had no such letter. Neither had he told anyone here that he was coming from New York for that purpose.

Remov said he would report to the External Affairs Department. Its minister, Lester B. Pearson, remarked later "eligibility for membership in the press gallery: rests entirely with the gallery."

Newsman Veto Russ As Gallery Member

OTTAWA, Dec. 30.—(BUP)—A Soviet newsmen looked around for accreditation today after Canada's tradition-steeped parliamentary press gallery vetoed his bid to take over one of its desks and typewriters.

Tunley Remov, who identified himself as a New York employee of the semi-official Russian news agency Tass, yesterday walked into a room assigned exclusively to correspondents covering parliamentary and government business in Ottawa.

He said he had come as a temporary replacement for Sim Scherbatykh, Tass correspondent and a former gallery member, who was recently recalled to Moscow.

A gallery employee referred him to Chester Bloom, gallery president and chief of the Winnipeg Free Press' Ottawa staff.

Bloom, in turn, referred him to a long-standing gallery regulation. It provided that before anyone could take up space in the room reserved for Ottawa correspondents, he had to produce a letter from his boss stating he had been assigned to report parliament.

Neither had he told anyone here that he was coming from New York for that purpose.

Remov said he would report to the External Affairs Department. Its minister, Lester B. Pearson, remarked later "eligibility for membership in the press gallery: rests entirely with the gallery."

Several thousand churchgoers attended the Anglican church missionary society's production of the play "The Gates of Hell" at the Fortuna theatre—and most of them applauded the devil's antics.

I wrote this play to shock people inside and outside the church," fair, vivacious Miss Hildel said. "I want to set across a challenge to the churches."

She was commissioned to write "The Gates of Hell" by the church missionary society.

Advice to Tipplers

Going to have a hangover New Year's morning? I hope you don't but if you must whoop 'er up, the experts say you can beat the rap by observing a few simple rules. Here are some invaluable tips to tipplers supplied by Edmonton's adept alcoholic, Rudolph the red-eyed rowdy: The guy who is rushing off to his New Year's fling the same way he dashes for the 95 street bus is advised to gulp two or three aspirins, a couple of glasses of water and hope for the best.

Some doctors say the best and easiest way out is to take a Turkish bath to steam the alcohol from the body. But who in the world wants to jump into a steam bath New Year's morning? Simplest and cheapest way out is to drink water constantly. Alcohol dehydrates the system and this water will be replaced before the body functions normally again. (But who ever thinks about water on New Year's Eve?)

A pleasant "cure" is a little drink of sarsaparilla, the best sort being a Collins, a brandy egg nog or a brandy floater. There's also a well-known prairie cocktail. Stir well together one egg, a liberal amount of hot sauce and lots of salt and pepper. Be close to the bath room when you try this one.

P.S.—Rudolph the red-eyed rowdy just admitted he never tried any of these things New Year's morning. Rudolph says he is in no shape to experiment after all New Year's party until the following Feb. 2 and then it's too late. Edm. guarantees the remedies.

Have You Made Yours?

Of course you're going to make those New Year's resolutions. Why not? They're so easy to break.

Some leading Edmonton citizens have already made their resolutions. City commissioner John Hodgson isn't worried. Says John: "I've never broken a resolution in my life. I never make any."

Another man who leaves resolutions to the rest is Dr. J. L. Robinson, minister of labor and industry for the provincial government. Said the 50-year-old legislator: "Most people make 'em and break 'em. I gave up years ago."

"In the make-'em-and-break-'em class is his fellow cabinet minister, Hon. A. J. Hooke, head of the economic affairs department. "My usual New Year's resolution is to give up smoking," says the genial Mr. Hooke. "I kept it up to a week—but it gets pretty painful by that time and I break it." You've got lots of company, Mr. Hooke.

Women take these things more seriously, though. Mrs. C. T. Casselman, general secretary of the YWCA, tells me she generally makes them—and keeps them. She has one special one for this year: to get further along with the financing of a new "Y" building she and a lot of other "Y" workers have been dreaming of for years.

Some Afterthoughts

Edmonton Lions Club held an auction sale at the meeting yesterday that was a whizz. One item was so useless that the auctioneer was bribed to take it home out of sight.

The screwy auction of unwanted Christmas gifts was dreamed up by program conveners Jim Pringle and Bryan Grineau, all gifts being donated by club members. Club treasury was boosted $60 through efforts of auctioneers Charlie Scanlan and Joe McCall.

A plastic paperweight, which looked something like a man's head was the most definitely unwanted gift, although red ties and awful socks were in the running too. The paperweight was sold six times, each buyer returning it fast as soon as he unwrapped it. It netted $6.62 before Bory Margolin finally paid a dollar to auctioneer Scanlan just to take the thing away.

Mrs. Paul Boisvert of St. Paul had an unusual Christmas present. She was playing cribbage at home with some friends on Santa Claus day when she turned up the perfect hand. She held a jack and three fives and turned up the five of hearts while holding the jack of hearts. Still big goggle-eyed after looking over the mitts are Pat McKernan of Edmonton, Josephine Patry and Mrs. Raymond Julian.

Pat Ashby isn't dead. He telephoned me the other night at 10:30 from his winter-battered farm to say he's getting fed up coming to Edmonton because he can never find a place to park his car. Pat says to say Happy New Year to all his Edmonton friends.

458 Hampers Distributed

The Council of Social Agencies show that 458 food hampers, many of which also included clothing and necessities. The ship waited for him. He was accompanied by his wife.

Monitons this Christmas by local clubs, social welfare organizations and individuals, it was announced today.

In addition numerous dolls, toys and small comforts were sent to children and shut-ins.

Alberta Movement's Resolution Calls For Autonomous Senate

Reorganization of the Tuxis Movement in Alberta to remove it from the jurisdiction of the Religious Education Council of Alberta gained approval last night at the Tuxis Parliament.

Members of the parliament voted in favor of a resolution which would replace the work of the Alberta Boys' Work Board, co-ordinating body of the Religious Education Council, with a Tuxis senate of adult members.

LONG DEBATE

If the resolution is acted upon by the Religious Education Council, Tuxis movement in Alberta will become self-supporting and will handle its own finances.

Approval of the resolution came after an hour-long debate of the committee of the whole.

During their afternoon session, members of the parliament gave their approval to six other resolutions dealing with Tuxis internal organization.

One of the resolutions favored will seek enlargement of summer camping facilities for Tuxis members.

Dinner meeting last night at Corona hotel was addressed by Rev. Angus MacQuinn. He told the 45 Tuxis members attending that the secret of successful living is dedication of self to the common good.

Hon. C. E. Gehart, provincial municipal affairs minister, Edmonton alderman A. Bisset, Rev. John L. Robinson, minister of labor and industry for the provincial government, were also present.

She has one special one for this year: to get further along with the financing of a new "Y" building she and a lot of other "Y" workers have been dreaming of for years.

Some Afterthoughts

Edmonton Lions Club held an auction sale at the meeting yesterday that was a whizz. One item was so useless that the auctioneer was bribed to take it home out of sight.

The screwy auction of unwanted Christmas gifts was dreamed up by program conveners Jim Pringle and Bryan Grineau, all gifts being donated by club members. Club treasury was boosted $60 through efforts of auctioneers Charlie Scanlan and Joe McCall.

A plastic paperweight, which looked something like a man's head was the most definitely unwanted gift, although red ties and awful socks were in the running too. The paperweight was sold six times, each buyer returning it fast as soon as he unwrapped it. It netted $6.62 before Bory Margolin finally paid a dollar to auctioneer Scanlan just to take the thing away.

Mrs. Paul Boisvert of St. Paul had an unusual Christmas present. She was playing cribbage at home with some friends on Santa Claus day when she turned up the perfect hand. She held a jack and three fives and turned up the five of hearts while holding the jack of hearts. Still big goggle-eyed after looking over the mitts are Pat McKernan of Edmonton, Josephine Patry and Mrs. Raymond Julian.

Pat Ashby isn't dead. He telephoned me the other night at 10:30 from his winter-battered farm to say he's getting fed up coming to Edmonton because he can never find a place to park his car. Pat says to say Happy New Year to all his Edmonton friends.

458 Hampers Distributed

The Council of Social Agencies show that 458 food hampers, many of which also included clothing and necessities. The ship waited for him. He was accompanied by his wife.

Monitons this Christmas by local clubs, social welfare organizations and individuals, it was announced today.

In addition numerous dolls, toys and small comforts were sent to children and shut-ins.

IT'S LOVE

Love Tales Flooding News Stands

Love—with a capital L—has hit Edmonton's teen-age girls with a vengeance.

That love-light in your daughter's eyes, mister, isn't the result of seeing Robert Taylor in the movies, either.

It's the direct result of a new wave of romance-making comic books, which have flooded news stands throughout the country.

And don't be surprised if Junior has a new look in his eyes when he sits down for dinner tonight.

NEW BOY COMICS

New boy comics on the market are liberally sprinkled with luscious-looking females usually seen in more adult clothes.

Scavengers of the Tuxis parliament are continuing today.

Manitoba Tuxis Ask Sex Course

WINNIPEG, Dec. 30.—(CP)—A bill to establish compulsory sex education in Manitoba schools was passed last night by the Manitoba legislature.

Approval of the resolution came after an hour-long debate of the committee of the whole.

During their afternoon session, members of the parliament gave their approval to six other resolutions dealing with Tuxis internal organization.

One of the resolutions favored will seek enlargement of summer camping facilities for Tuxis members.

Dinner meeting last night at Corona hotel was addressed by Rev. Angus MacQuinn. He told the 45 Tuxis members attending that the secret of successful living is dedication of self to the common good.

Hon. C. E. Gehart, provincial municipal affairs minister, Edmonton alderman A. Bisset, Rev. John L. Robinson, minister of labor and industry for the provincial government, were also present.

Most people make 'em and break 'em. I gave up years ago."

"In the make-'em-and-break-'em class is his fellow cabinet minister, Hon. A. J. Hooke, head of the economic affairs department. "My usual New Year's resolution is to give up smoking," says the genial Mr. Hooke. "I kept it up to a week—but it gets pretty painful by that time and I break it." You've got lots of company, Mr. Hooke.

Women take these things more seriously, though. Mrs. C. T. Casselman, general secretary of the YWCA, tells me she generally makes them—and keeps them. She has one special one for this year: to get further along with the financing of a new "Y" building she and a lot of other "Y" workers have been dreaming of for years.

Edmonton's adept alcoholic, Rudolph the red-eyed rowdy: The guy who is rushing off to his New Year's fling the same way he dashes for the 95 street bus is advised to gulp two or three aspirins, a couple of glasses of water and hope for the best.

Some doctors say the best and easiest way out is to take a Turkish bath to steam the alcohol from the body. But who in the world wants to jump into a steam bath New Year's morning? Simplest and cheapest way out is to drink water constantly. Alcohol dehydrates the system and this water will be replaced before the body functions normally again. (But who ever thinks about water on New Year's Eve?)

A pleasant "cure" is a little drink of sarsaparilla, the best sort being a Collins, a brandy egg nog or a brandy floater. There's also a well-known prairie cocktail. Stir well together one egg, a liberal amount of hot sauce and lots of salt and pepper. Be close to the bath room when you try this one.

EDMONTONIANS CAUTIOUS

Police traffic officials last night reported one of the quietest nights on record, with only five minor accidents requiring police attention.

According to traffic officials, the slippery streets are being cautiously traversed by city motorists and serious accidents have been averted.

14 City Men Are Promoted

Fourteen Edmontonians serving in the RCAF are among 31 prize officers promoted on Jan. 1, it was announced today by RCAF headquarters, Ottawa.

Edmonton officers promoted are: M. P. Martyn, RCAF station, to group captain; J. E. Corrigan, DFC, 1314th RCAF station, to squadron leader; R. H. Manson, AFC, RCAF station, to squadron leader; M. J. Fitzpatrick, RCAF station, to squadron leader; M. G. Moor, 1319-124 street, to squadron leader; M. H. J. Dalziel, 1036-96 street, to flight lieutenant.

D. McLean, RCAF station, to flight lieutenant; W. Kerelek, 1192-91 street, to flight lieutenant; V. A. Sutherland, 1064-47 street, to flight lieutenant; J. A. Crook, 1051-79 street, to flight lieutenant; K. S. C. Rieley, DFC, 1314-105 street, to flight lieutenant; J. P. O'Sullivan, 1197-102 street, to flight lieutenant; L. E. Lacombe, 1172-125 street, to flight lieutenant; and J. G. F. Samsbury, 1134-63 street, to acting flight lieutenant.

DAUGHTER'S CHOICE

Your daughter can choose between "My sister loved him too," or "I was a Gypsy's sweetheart," or even "The hijacked my heart."

And if your son wakes up screaming during the night, it's probably because he's been reading some brand-new "Captain Marvel" comic. Only this time they probably deal with super Martian atom bombs.

What's that you say? You're going to stop (and your junior miss from reading the funny?)

We think we've heard that somewhere before.

Thieves Get $120 From Hotel Guests

Thieves last night netted $120 after breaking into two Edmonton hotels and removing wallets.

First incident was reported by Janet Morris of 1012-48 street, who said her wallet containing $60 had disappeared from her room in the Argyle Hotel.

Another occurrence was reported by Albert Postale of Dawson Creek. He said he was in room 404 when he found his wallet containing $60 and a blank certified cheque taken from his room in the Empire Hotel.

Canadians Are Protected From the Great Titmouse

Stanley Burke's refusal to allow the great titmouse and his fellows entry through the paper curtain.

Along with him are listed such other threats to Canadian well-being as the nutmeg fish, the common mongoose, snake assassins for automobiles, snakes and snakes of all kinds and $30 value regret plumes and second-hand airplanes.

THE OSTRICH

Friends of Ostrich, with the number one guest at our own, will be disappointed to learn that the ostrich is not a native of Canada in abridged form. But the original plume provoking plumes are struck out.

All this noble work in the defense of Canadian morals is done by a board of customs men in Ottawa. These stalwarts, chosen no doubt for the toughness of their moral fibre and ability to withstand the evils of the flesh, meet from time to time to discuss the merits of the terrible things they have read and seen.

It was all very interesting. But there was one minor disappointment. Fun Inc.—Hand book for Teen Citizens, is really not very at all. It's banned because it contains all copyright regulation.

One-Cent Increase To Cut Consumption

The health of low-income groups requires that the federal government pay a subsidy for milk production. Dr. G. M. Little, Edmonton medical officer of health, said last night.

There is no doubt that the increase of one cent a quart for milk will cut down consumption by those in low-income brackets, he said.

This group is the primary problem of public health officials," said Dr. Little. He was commenting on the increase the Board of Public Utilities Commissioners granted yesterday in the price of milk and spring.

SUBSIDIZE HEALTH

"We have striven to get the low-income groups to consume more milk," he added. "The increase will be something of a drawback to our efforts."

Dr. Little emphasized that as a health measure the federal government should offer a subsidy to offset the rising costs of producing milk.

The increase was granted as an emergency measure and will go directly to the dairy farmer.

CONSUMERS OBJECT

Strong objection to the board was voiced by Mrs. F. J. Connor, president of Canadian Association of Consumers, Alberta Branch.

"The association believes," she said, "that the increase will vary in the greater use of canned milk."

Logic of the hike was questioned by Mrs. Connor. She said dairymen were spending $800 a month in Edmonton to produce a quart of milk.

Members should obtain tickets at Mike's news store and Morlocks jewelry.

Secretary Bert Hudson has lined up a big program.

Belated Help For Chiang Is Urged Upon Truman

By EDWARD V. ROBERTS
WASHINGTON, Dec. 30.—(UPI)—Plans to send 100-hour American arms and technical aid to the Chinese Nationalists appeared to be gaining strength today within the Truman administration.

The National Security Council, with President Truman presiding, reportedly considered the plans at a White House meeting yesterday. Informal quarters said the joint chiefs of staff recommended: 1. A new U.S. military mission to advise Chiang Kai-shek on defense of the island of Formosa, against expected Communist attack.

2. "Limited" U.S. arms aid to bolster Formosa's defenses.

THREE SHIPS SENT
Soon after the Council meeting, the navy announced that it is sending the aircraft carrier Bower and two destroyers Jan 11 to far eastern waters to reinforce the seventh fleet.

18 EDMONTON BULLETIN, Friday, Dec. 30, 1949
task fleet, stationed in the Philippines—300 miles from Formosa.
The navy described the fleet as "a mobile force readily available to support U.S. national policy and to serve as a standing influence in the western Pacific. The navy did mention Formosa but observers pointed out that a Communist attack on the island would be "definitely unadvisable."

LONG ARGUED
A decision to give Chiang new aid would be a reversal for Secretary of State Dean Acheson who has taken the position that the Nationalists cannot survive. He participated in yesterday's meeting.

250 U.S. Tanks
Now In Formosa
TAIPEI, Formosa, Dec. 29.—(UPI)—More than 250 U.S. tanks, including at least 30 M4 medium tanks, have arrived in southern Formosa since the middle of October, reliable sources disclosed today.

The Communists are expected to launch an amphibious assault soon.

French Release
Viet Nam Area
PARIS, Dec. 29.—AP.—French officials said last night the French high commissioner for Indo-China, Louis Fagnon, has signed agreements in Saigon turning over the administration of Viet Nam to the government of the Emperor Bao Dai. Viet Nam is the largest of the three areas of Indo-China under French control with French support. Bao Dai proclaimed himself Emperor of Viet Nam last June. He is supported by Nationalist forces under the leadership of the Soviet-trained Ho Chi Minh.
